

Kalanchoe

Some folks say 'kalan cho'...some folks say 'kalan ko ee' However you choose to say it, this lovely plant is pretty to look at and easy to grow.

You may put your kalanchoe in the house in a bright sunny window to finish its blooming cycle or grow it outdoors in a semi-shady/sunny spot.

Undemanding as far as water, it will tolerate the occasional lapse in care that we gardeners are guilty of. Not you, of course!

After the blooms are all finished plant it out in the garden in a sunny spot and watch it grow and re-bloom every year.

Fertilize it occasionally. Cut off the flowers when they are finished and just enjoy!

Weidner's Gardens...not just another nursery

760- 436-2194

www.weidners.com staff@weidners.com